Work experience

Our work experience placements offer up to four weeks' paid employment and are open to students from Year 11 onwards. Students considering a career in law or corporate services will gain valuable insight into the workings of an international offshore law firm.

What to expect

Students carry out a wide range of activities during their placements, examples of which include:

- Attending court hearings with lawyers
- Preparing notes on recent cases of interest
- Assisting fee earners in dealing with complex and ground-breaking transactions
- Carrying out research tasks on points of Cayman Islands law and policy
- Attending client meetings

Scholarships

We offer two types of annual scholarship for local or overseas study: US$12,000 to support a suitably qualified Caymanian student pursuing undergraduate studies; and US$30,000 to support a Caymanian graduate studying for a Graduate Diploma in law (GDL) or Legal Practice Course (LPC) qualification.

How to apply

Applications for work experience placements open on 1 November for the following June. Deadline to apply is 30 April.

Case Study:

Kayleigh Mascarenhas

I have completed two summer intern placements at Carey Olsen, and have found both experiences to be incredibly valuable.

When I first interned I was unfamiliar with the world of corporate law but during my time I learned that there are many different roles, and the team took the time to talk to me and help me understand. I worked closely with one of the attorneys, and was able to accompany him to a hearing, which was an amazing experience. Having spent time in a law firm, I now have a clearer idea of the day to day tasks undertaken and am confident in my chosen career path – studying law at the University of Kent in the UK.

I can say that I not only enjoyed my time but I also really learned from it, it was a truly valuable experience.
